Nora R. Adukonis practices in the areas of municipal law, construction, product liability, employment, insurance coverage, arbitration and appeals. She has represented cities and towns in matters involving wrongful discharge, defamation, and privacy' manufacturers, distributors, and others in matters alleging injuries or property damage arising from defective products; as well as businesses, insurance carriers, and non-profits in a broad range of disputes.

NY | New York City Office

Dana M. Catanzaro defends property owners and contractors against high-exposure personal injury matters arising out of construction accidents. She has extensive experience handling insurance coverage, complex construction and property damages claims, and litigates negligence-based lawsuits involving motor vehicle accidents, premises liability and medical malpractice. Dana is a proud member of the Firm's Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Committee.

NY | New York City Office

Nadia Del Toro defends high exposure New York Labor Law and general liability cases for primary and excess insurance carriers, and also defends government entities, railroad companies and general contractors against actions arising from major construction projects. She has extensive experience litigating in state courts and mediating complex cases involving multiple corporate parties.

TX | Dallas-Fort Worth Office

Emily P. Hollenbeck defends personal injury claims against clients, including cases such as premises and products liability, motor vehicle liability, medical negligence, wrongful death and liquor liability. She also represents businesses in general civil litigation matters and advises property owners associations on a variety of issues. Emily's legal career includes experience as a claims attorney for a third party administrator.

UT | Salt Lake City Office

Greg Soderberg practices defense litigation in the areas of medical and dental negligence, licensing and regulatory discipline, premises and construction liability, motor vehicle liability, and employment-related matters. He handles case litigation from inception, through motion practice and discovery, and mediation or arbitration, trials and appeals. Prior to joining Litchfield Cavo LLP, he represented state employees and agencies as a Utah assistant attorney general and also served as an administrative law judge for the Utah Commerce and Insurance Departments.

"I am pleased to welcome nine extremely qualified Litchfield Cavo attorneys to the partnership. Their individual and collective legal talent will continue to drive our Firm's nationally recognized reputation as a premier litigation Firm. Our new partners are remarkably gifted attorneys who have proven their commitment to providing exceptional service and excellent counsel to our clients.

In 2021, the Firm also welcomed two lateral partners and elevated five attorneys to the position of Counsel. Our new partners and Counsel, along with our existing partners and all of our attorneys, will be vital contributors to our excellent client service moving forward."
